

Early movers and global success: The story of emerging-market fixed income

Credit Suisse Asset Management was quick to recognize the potential of emerging-market (EM) fixed income investments, developing a comprehensive offering with some of the world's premier funds.

The markets have grown rapidly over the last decade, and these days, global growth originates mainly in emerging economies. An EM fixed income allocation has become a vital part of many portfolios, offering investors interesting risk/return characteristics and favorable diversification effects.

Historical performance indications and financial market scenarios are not reliable indicators of future performance. It is not possible to invest in an index. The index returns shown do not represent the results of actual trading of investable assets/securities. Investors pursuing a strategy similar to an index may experience higher or lower returns and will bear the cost of fees and expenses that will reduce returns.

Our EM fixed income credit solutions make up a comprehensive range of funds, some of which enjoy top ratings.

Growth and performance

Our track record in managing EM corporate debt since 2005 is one of the industry's longest. This solid franchise focused on global EM corporate bonds offers solutions with broad global exposure to investment-grade (IG) and high-yield (HY) bonds and other debt instruments issued by corporate issuers, sovereigns, and quasi-sovereigns. The team's accomplishments speak for themselves:

EM corporate bond flagship funds have consistently outperformed their peer group average and rank in the top quartile across any relevant time horizon.

The superior alpha generation is reflected by the highest rating assigned by Morningstar for the CS (Lux) Emerging Market Corporate Bond Fund.

Both flagship funds have experienced significant growth in assets under management (AuM) in 2020, making them two of the largest in the industry.

As a result, investors have entrusted us with over USD 15 bn in EM and Asian fixed income assets, including two of the largest global corporate bond funds in the industry. Regional corporate bond funds for Latin America, the Middle East, and Asia complement our range of global EM corporate products.

Morningstar recognition and assets under management

Five-star ratings from Morningstar attest to the strength of our team and our products:

The Credit Suisse (Lux) Emerging Market Corporate Bond Fund holds a five-star rating in some share classes¹

The Credit Suisse (Lux) Emerging Market Corporate Investment Grade Bond Fund received a five-star rating in some share classes in 2020¹

Equally important, however, is the trust and recognition visible in the EM funds' growing AuM numbers. Even in a challenging environment characterized by crisis and swings in investor sentiment, the following funds have recorded positive inflows in 2020:

Creating value. For you.

Motivated by our success and the recognition we have received, we are stepping up our efforts. EM fixed income continues to be an interesting and, in many ways, indispensable asset class, particularly considering its resilience during the COVID-19 crisis.

The objectives before us are to continue to grow the business, to access new segments and opportunities, and to align our range of products and services with Credit Suisse Asset Management's overall ESG strategy. The asset class has clearly come into its own, and it is important to press our advantage as early movers.

Historical performance indications and financial market scenarios are not reliable indicators of current or future performance. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which you reside, then you should be aware that due to exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may increase or decrease if converted to your local currency. Costs on client level (for example securities account fees) are not considered and may additionally reduce performance accordingly.

Risks:

- Bonds carry the risk of default; if the issuer defaults or goes into liquidation, investors may lose some or all of their invested capital.
- Investments are subject to market fluctuations.
- Investing in EMs involves a greater degree of risk than investing in developed markets. EM risks are characterized by a certain degree of political instability, relatively unpredictable financial markets and economic growth patterns, and a financial market that is still at the developmental stage or a weak economy.
- There is no guarantee regarding the level of coupon payments or the value of the investments at maturity or at any other time.

The product's investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses, as well as more complete information about the product are provided in the prospectus (or relevant offering document) which should be read carefully before investing.
