Emanuele Bellingeri appointed Head of Asset Management Italy

Zurich, December 10, 2018 Emanuele Bellingeri has been appointed as the successor of Walter Sperb, who has decided to retire after 40 years with Credit Suisse. Emanuele Bellingeri will assume his new role on January 7, 2019.

Having worked in the sector for almost 20 years, Emanuele Bellingeri has extensive industry experience and a deep understanding of the Italian institutional, wholesale and retail market. As Head of Credit Suisse Asset Management Italy and Head of Distribution Italy, he will report to Michel Degen, Head of Asset Management Switzerland and EMEA, and report to Gebhard Giselsbrecht, Head of Client Coverage, regarding functional matters.

Credit Suisse Asset Management Italy is proud of its long-standing superior investment management and client coverage teams who offer high-quality solutions and services for our clients.

"We are pleased that Emanuele Bellingeri is joining the Credit Suisse Group to run our Italian Asset Management operations", said Michel Degen, and adds: "His widely recognized leadership skills and experience, combined with our long-established expertise, will take Credit Suisse Asset Management's activities in Italy to the next level. Furthermore, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Walter Sperb for his firm commitment over the past 40 years at Credit Suisse, particularly for his outstanding work in positioning our Italian Asset Management business as a key market player."

Federico Imbert, Country CEO in Italy, commented: "Emanuele Bellingeri's expertise will be invaluable in further developing Credit Suisse Asset Management's capabilities in the region", while Stefano Vecchi, CEO of Credit Suisse (Italy) S.p.A., stressed that the appointment of such a high-caliber professional demonstrates Credit Suisse's strong commitment to Italy and the company's ambition to continue to expand its franchise there in the future.
